Extreme Weather events impact service in New South Wales Northeast Coast

Telstra is working to manage the significant impact to Telstra services that has occurred as a result of a series of extreme weather events in the northeast coast region of New South Wales on or about Sunday 21 June 2009 through to Monday 22 June 2009.

Due to the effect of damage to the Telstra telecommunications network by an extreme weather event which brought with it heavy rainfall and flash flooding, there has been a significant increase in the number of Telstra services being reported as faulty. As a result, there has been some disruption to service and delays to normal installation and repair activities.

Telstra apologises to any affected customers.

Information as to the nature of these severe weather events can be sourced from the Bureau of Meteorology (BOM). Heavy rainfall and flood warnings were referred to in the Weatherzone report issued on Monday 22 June 2009 at 14:30 pm; and were widely reported in the news media after the events. Links to this information can be found at <http://www.weatherzone.com.au>.

Telstra has identified that the effect of these circumstances applies to approximately 1569 services. This number may increase as Telstra assesses the full affect of the extreme weather conditions. Based on current information, the resumption date of normal service operations is expected to be 29 June 2009. This date is indicative only; Telstra customers should anticipate that some further delays may occur. Telstra regrets any inconvenience caused to customers and thanks them for their patience while this work is being undertaken.
